

FIRST WORDS 1,2,3

by Ladybird

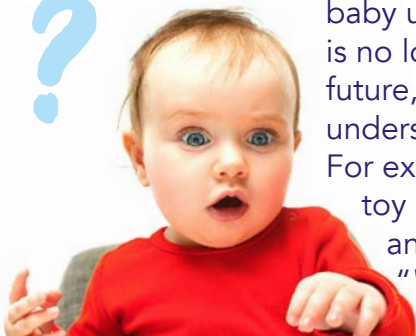

This bright and colourful board book is packed with fun photos of familiar objects. Your baby will have fun spotting their favourites again and again.

1 . . . 2 . . . 3! What can you see?

Have fun counting rubber ducks, trains and teddy bears in this counting book.

Hiding Games

Play hiding games to help your baby understand when something is no longer there anymore. In the future, this will help your little one to understand what zero means. For example, hide a small toy under a plastic cup and ask your baby "Where's it gone?"

Show your baby how to count.

Count with your baby as you go up the stairs, play with toys, and sing rhymes. You can even count fingers and toes at bath or nappy time!

Clap and sing with your baby.

Feeling beats in songs helps babies learn about the rhythm for counting. For more words and actions to songs and nursery rhymes, visit the Words for Life website:
