

THE TRUTH ABOUT YETICORNS

by Rachel Morrisroe and Ella Okstad

A rhyming story about two sisters Edie and Bea. Bea often tells little fibs when something goes wrong, including blaming a 'yeticorn' for gobbling up Edie's sweets and sneezing confetti everywhere.

But what happens when Bea wakes up one day to find a real yeticorn has come to stay? Can Bea find the courage to stop fibbing and finally tell the truth?

Building characters from recycling.

Getting crafty with your little one is a fun way to help them develop their communication, problem-solving and social skills.

Have a go at building puppets out of recycling and scrap paper. Use objects you find around the house like old cardboard tubes and string.

Try asking your child to explain what they are doing at each step and let their imagination run wild! Maybe you could create a completely new character like the yeticorn in the story.

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/tiny-happy-people/articles/zm3d8xs>

Make up your own story.

Making up stories helps your child learn to use their imagination and communicate. Your little one will love to hear a story made up about them.

As they get older, your child will be able to join in and begin to develop their own story telling skills. You could help them by beginning a story about them, a favourite toy, or pet.

If you start a story, leave spaces for your child to help fill in names, actions, and sounds, or to decide what happens next.

<https://wordsforlife.org.uk/activities/make-your-own-story/>

What Do You See?

*What do you see?
What do you see?
I see cars, I see cars.
Looking all around,
looking up and down.
Please tell me,
what you see.*

A perfect rhyme to use when you are out and about, or you could sing this rhyme as you look at the pictures in the book and use some of the amazing creatures from the story.

<https://www.scottishbooktrust.com/songs-and-rhymes/what-do-you-see>