

DO YOU KNOW? ANIMAL FAMILIES

by Ladybird

What are baby animals called?
What is in an egg?

Find out all about tadpoles, chicks and sleepy lions in this information book.

Teddy says...

Whoever holds your child's favourite toy will be the leader and call out actions.

Your child, and anyone else joining in, must follow the leader and do the action they call out, but only when Teddy says.

If the leader says, "Teddy says touch your nose", everyone must touch their nose. However, if the leader just says, "Touch your nose", no one should do this.

Have fun together making up different actions and don't worry if your child makes some mistakes. This game is great for listening and concentration skills.

Building an animal home.

Ask your child to choose a soft toy or plastic animal and help them to build a home for it. You could use cardboard boxes, bricks, cushions or go outdoors and use sticks and stones.

Ask questions as your child builds such as, "What kind of bed would your animal like?" or, "How big are you going to build it?"

I'm a Little Tadpole (Sing to the tune of "I'm a Little Teapot")

*I'm a little tadpole, long and slim,
in the water watch me swim.
As the days get longer, watch me sprout,
all my legs as they grow out.*

*I'm a little froglet, with my toes,
I'm still growing, everybody knows.
When my tail's gone and can't be seen,
I'm a frog and I am green.*
